Double murder suspect held without bond

MURDER SUSPECT Wayne Callender is led to a Palm Beach County Sheriff's van to begin the ride to West Palm Beach, where he is scheduled to appear before a Grand Jury. Callender's first court appearance was Tuesday, Aug. 11, before Judge Don Adams. Callender was apprehended Monday in Belle Glade.

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE-Palm Beach County Judge Don T. Adams ordered Wayne Callender, 29, an illegal alien from Barbados held without bond and sent to West Palm Beach to appear before a grand jury in the double murder of a Belle Glade couple Tuesday, Aug. 11.

Randolph Curtis Williams, 67, and his wife, Lorraine Williams, 63, of 101 N.W. Avenue 1, were shot to death in their sleep early Wednesday morning, Aug. 5. Both were shot two to three times each in the head.

Their son, Randolph Curtis Williams, Jr., a cerebral palsy victim, was spared by the killer.

The Belle Glade Police Department launched an all-out investigation into the shocking crime, which involved virtually every member of the force. After working around the clock and checking 20,000 sets of fingerprints, a police spokesman announced to a press conference that the crime had been solved Monday afternoon, Aug. 10.

Patrolman Jack R. Fulenwider, 29, spotted Callender walking along Southwest 4th Street and Avenue C about noon. Callender was wearing a white baseball cap, a large pair of sunglasses, a red and white checked shirt and light blue trousers when arrested. He was carrying a green shoulder bag packed with clothing.

"It struck me. It just kind of hit," Fulenwider said of seeing Callender. "I turned the car around and said what's your name."

"Winston Small," Callender answered, using an alias police were unaware of at the start of the investigation.

Fulenwider placed handcuffs on Callender and brought him to the Belle Glade Police Station.

Detective J. R. Eberle, who headed the investigation for the Belle Glade Police Department, summed up the reason for the apprehension of the suspect in two words: "Hard work."

Through the arrest may have set minds at ease in Belle Glade, Eberle said police investigators continued on with their work.

Callender appeared before Judge Adams shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday. He was shackled and wore a white T-shirt and green, pinstriped trousers. He was barefoot. Stenciled across the front of his shirt were the letters "PBJC."

The 5 foot 7, 130 pound Callender stood before a microphone and in barely audible, accented English acknowledged that he understood he had been charged with two counts of first degree murder, armed burglary of a residence, and grand theft.

Through Assistant State Attorney Michael Miller and Bruce Smith of the Public Defender's Office, Callender indicated that he was indigent and wanted a lawyer.

Callender's first appearance ended at 9:13 a.m., and he was led away from the packed courtroom. At 10:08 a.m., he was led outside, shackled to other prisoners who had appeared before Judge Adams, loaded into a van, and driven back to Belle Glade Jail before starting the trip to West Palm Beach.

George Barrs of the Public Defenders Office in Belle Glade indicated that either he or one of the attorneys from the West Palm Beach office would probably be appointed to defend Callender.

According to an affidavit filed with the court by Det. Eberle, an intruder entered the Williams home Aug. 5 about 4 a.m.

A screen in the northwest bathroom window was cut by the intruder, who stood on a small aluminum boat as he crawled inside.

Once inside the building, the intruder entered the bedroom of Randolph Williams, Jr., held a gun on him, and threatened to kill him. He took $128 from his wallet.

The intruder then went into the bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. Williams were asleep. Mr. Williams was shot two or three times and Mrs. Williams was shot three times, all at close range, according to the affidavit.

The intruder took the keys for a 1972 Pontiac and fled. The vehicle was found abandoned about 4:20 a.m. at the intersection of Southwest 2nd Street and Southwest Avenue D.

The Belle Glade Police Department Crime Scene Unit arrived at the Williams home and found latent fingerprints inside the bathroom door. Several .32 caliber shell casings were also found inside the bathroom.

A .32 caliber revolver was recovered Sunday, Aug. 9, a short distance from where the vehicle had been abandoned.

Investigators learned that several other burglaries had occurred in the area, including one at the residence of Rev. David T. Evans of 1008 N. Main St.

It was also learned that Callender had worked for Zoning change protested

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE-Over protests of residents in the area, Belle Glade City Commissioners Monday, Aug. 10, approved rezoning actions which could eventually lead to the construction of apartment buildings near Glades General Hospital.

Approved were requests for annexation and B-2 zoning on State Lot 25 and annexation and R-2 zoning on State Lot 26, located immediately south of S.E. Avenue M.

B-2 is a restricted business zone and R-2 is a residential zone, allowing multi-family dwellings. Prior to Monday's rezoning, the property had been zoned for agricultural use.

Requesting the rezoning were Seminole Sugar Corp., Hi-Te, Inc., and Pedro I. and Marta Molina.

Remar M. Harvin, director of planning and community development for the city, said the suggestion to place an R-1 buffer between the proposed R-2 area and current residences in the area was made at a planning and zoning board meeting Thursday, Aug. 6. R-1 prohibits construction of multiple rental units.

Following Harvin's presentation, a parade of residents marched to the speaker's podium to protest the rezoning action. One resident said the development would increase density in the area too much and that the city should consider the added traffic, and increased strain on water and sewer resources.

Pedro Gonzalez, representing the developer, said the rezoning action is not a green light to begin construction. Additional planning is required and the developer would be restricted by city guidelines. In any case, no action has been made to construct rental units, condominiums or townhouses.

Gonzalez said there is no projected date for starting construction.

"The developer could put all the apartment houses on it he wants to, right?" resident Jim Humphrey asked of the R-2 zoning.

Mayor Thomas Altman said that the developer would have followed the planning process and the development plan.

"Meeting the city's criteria is a very important step," Altman said.

Resident Kenneth Glass said that some of the residents are really against R-1 or B-2 rezoning.

"The R-2 is what

Pahokee looks into hiring city manager

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council agreed to continue looking into the possibility of employing a city manager or an administrative assistant to help with the management of the city at Tuesday's regular City Council meeting.

The Council began discussing a possibility of a city manager for the city at its first budget workshop held on Aug. 3.

At that time several Councilmen expressed their interest in the hiring of a city manager.

Mayor Norma Norman said Tuesday night he was in favor of a city manager or an administrative assistant but felt an ordinance needed to be drawn up to spell out the specifics of the job.

"I'm in favor of a city manager, even if it means I stand to lose my job," said Norman.

Councilman George Tillis said he was also in favor of the Council looking into the possibility of hiring a city manager.

Mayor Norman said he felt the City of Pahokee would be faced with the difficult task of trying to find a city manager who would want to live in Pahokee with his family.

The Council agreed to place the item on their budget workshop agenda.

In other action before the Council:

-Agreed to send Ronald Davis, a Public Works employee to Orlando to learn the operations of the city's incinerator. Public Works director, Donnie Martin and Council chairman, George Rashley recommended Davis be sent on a one week trip to learn the mechanics of the operation.

"Davis has been employed by the city for over a year and has expressed an interest in running the city incinerator," said Martin.

"He is a local young man and has not missed a day's work since he has been employed," Martin added. "I think he would be good for the job," Martin continued.

-Approved a trailer permit request for Robert Mackie. The City Zoning and Planning Board also recommended the permit request.

-Accepted a letter of resignation Milton W. Salvatore Jr.

Salvatore said because he had accepted the position as football coach at Christian Day School he would not have the time to continue serving on the City Planning Board.

-Changed the first hearing date for the millage rate from Sept. 8 to Sept. 22 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

-Accepted a bid of 68.5 cents per gallon for LP Gas from the Petrolane Gas Company of Belle Glade.

-Agreed to discontinue Farmers Market Street lights: Councilman Rashley said Farmers Market had not paid their bill in over two years.

-Agreed to install more street lights on Larrimore Road. Donny Martin said he felt at least three or four

Belle Glade general fund tentatively approved

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE-City Commissioners tentatively approved their fiscal 1982 General Fund

Budget and millage rate, and set public hearing dates Monday, Aug. 11.

The first public hearing for the budget will be Sept. 22 at 8 p.m. in Belle Glade City Hall. The second and final hearing will be held Oct. 5 at 8 p.m. also in city hall.

The proposed millage under the new budget is 8.6. Under the state formula, the "roll-back" to maintain the same revenue as last year's budget would have been 5.7101.

City Finance Director Frank Anderson told commissioners that under the state formula for computing millage, the tax increasing works out to 50.61 percent.

The formula was devised last year by the controversial TRIM Bill, which has proven un-

Sketch plan for Glades Gardens approved

BELLE GLADE—City Commissioners approved sketch plans for Phase One of Glades Gardens Subdivision Monday, Aug. 10, at their regular meeting.

The sketch plans were approved with the stipulation that staff recommendations by various city departments be incorporated into the plan.

Glades Garden Subdivision is bounded by Avenue A, 8th Street, 6th Street, and Royal Palm Way.

The city has been pursuing the project for about two years through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Planned Unit Development (PUD) project should lead to the construction of 107 new housing units, said Ramon Harvin, director of planning and community development.

Mayor Tom Altman asked Harvin if the city had done anything which might hold up HUD approval of the project.

"No sir. We've done quite a bit to help them out," Harvin responded.

City Manager Rolfe Wagner explained that under the PUD concept, the assets of common lands are pooled, some standards are relaxed, and the project is viewed in its totality, allowing more flexibility.

General Housing, Inc. of Miami Lakes is the contractor which prepared the subdivision sketch plan for the 51 two-story walkup apartments which will be built during phase one.

Current zoning in the area is R-3. No change in zoning will be required.

Expressing concern over the sketch plan were Florida Power and Light, Belle Glades Public Works Department, Chief of Police D. Bill Mathis, the South Florida Water Management District, and Briley Wild and Associates.

Florida Power and Light raised a question about access to the property, while the Public Works Department questioned the adequacy of drainage system. Chief Mathis questioned the size of the parking area. SFWMD said it could not evaluate the plan for drainage because of insufficient information, and added that the city would be responsible for additional water cut-backs during the drought.

Briley Wild and Associates recommended that 7th Street not be abandoned as recommended in Phase Two of the plan.

Mayor Tom Altman expressed reservations about the limited accessibility to the subdivision.

In other business Monday, commissioners:

- Named Rodney Connell, Joann Whitlock, Mary Orsenigo, Grant Averill, and Charles Farrar to the city Planning Advisory Committee.
- Denied a request by H.C. Collins for abandonment of easement south of Southwest Avenue E between 5th and 6th Streets.

Correction

Lockhart Ford Parts Manager Connie Bowen won a Silver Medallion Award from Ford this year for excellence among parts managers. He ranked 262nd out of 6,000 managers in the United States.

In last week's Herald-Observer, an article incorrectly said that the award was for managers in the state of Florida.

popular with many municipal and county governments. The bill was passed by the state legislature as a means of controlling taxes at the local level. The bill also requires that proposed taxes be advertised with the "roll-back" millage.

At a budget workshop Aug. 6, commissioners resolved the balancing problem provided by $4.5 million in revenue versus $4.9 million in budget requests through a combination of budget cuts and proposed revenue hikes.

The final $80,000 difference in revenue and request was resolved through modification of employee compensation. Commissioners also beefed up the reserve account from $137,000 to $560,000.

Monday night, City Manager Rolfe Wagner reported:

"It gives me great pleasure to report to you that with the excellent help of Frank Anderson, in accordance with the direction and guidance you provided in the last work session, the General Fund Budget is now in balance, preserving intact the $360,000 reserve."

The final steps in balancing the budget were achieved by applying a 7.5 percent cost of living increase prior to base adjustments, deferring base pay adjustments until Jan. 1st, and revising upward the utility tax by $9,732, Wagner said.

Under the revised pay plan, city employees would receive a 7.5 percent increase Oct. 1st, a base pay adjustment Jan. 1st, and a merit increase (on a selective basis) April 1st.

everyone is concerned about, including myself," he said.

Glass said that he wanted to rule out the possibility that 900 new residents would be moving into rental property which could be built on the 14 acre tract.

Gonzalez called the project a matter of economics, and said that even if rental property is built, it could be viewed as a service to the community.

Many young people are unable to come up with the money for purchase of a lot and high mortgage payments, he said.

A resident of the adjacent area said, however, that apartments would bring down property values in adjoining areas.

Mayor Altman said that Belle Glade is landlocked by agricultural interests and that the proposed development is one possible avenue of growth within the city.

The maximum zoning protection the city can give to homeowners in the area is an R-1 buffer zone, Altman said, calling R-1 a conservative zoning.

Altman asked for a motion on the zoning request. When none of the commissioners offered one, Altman relinquished his chair to Vice Mayor Randy Davidson and made the motion that the zoning be approved. Commissioner Charles Goodlett seconded the motion.

The rezoning passed by a 3-2 vote. Commissioner Dorothy Walker and Randy Davidson dissented.

Rezoning of State Lot 23 (immediately behind Glades General Hospital) to R-1 followed. There were no objections to the action and the rezoning passed with little comment.

Rev. Evans at one time and had been given permission to sleep in the mens room of the Presbyterian Church's Sunday School Building.

The Sunday School bathroom was checked Aug. 9 and latent fingerprints and a speck of blood were recovered. The fingerprint matched those taken at the crime scene.

Callender was arrested at noon, Aug. 10, and his fingerprints were confirmed to have matched those at the crime scene, according to Det. Eberle's affidavit.

During a videotaped interview, Callender confessed to the killings.

Callender entered the United States at West Palm Beach as a contract laborer Oct. 24, 1980, but disappeared Nov. 2, and was listed as absent without leave.

Inspector of Police Michael Miller said Tuesday police used a composite drawing in their search for Callender. Only one officer, Patrolman Duke Whitlock, had ever seen Callender previously.

"He told us the devil had given him the gun and the devil had instructed him to kill these people," Miller said of Callender.

Miller said he believed Randolph Williams, Jr. was unharmed because of his affliction.

When the police identified Callender as the prime suspect, they were about two weeks behind him when they picked up his trail. By Monday, however, they had narrowed the gap to about 10 minutes. Fuluwider recalls missing Callender by 10 minutes at one point, and being told that he had gone to catch a bus. Law enforcement officers at one point pulled over a bus at 20 mile bend. But Callender wasn't on the bus. He had missed it.

Police were told that Callender loved to ride the bus to the coast to watch movies.

He had his bags packed when he was picked up. He was trying to get out of town, officers say.

Callender's use of the alias, Winston Small, hindered the search initially. Fuluwider eventually made the connection that Small, a man who wanted to go to New York to become a singer, was actually Callender.

"We had many, many suspects. When we got the information on Wayne Callender, we put our emphasis on him," Miller said.

The apprehension of Callender is a story of almost super human effort and sacrifice on the part of law enforcement officers.

"If you went home at all, it was to shower, shave, and lay down for a few minutes sleep," Miller said. "We were feeling kind of down about this. We got a maximum effort from everyone working here. Even the secretaries worked through the weekend. As soon as we gave them a report they had typed it and back to us."

Virtually everyone in the department took part. Among them were Lt. George Farnell, Sgt. Leo Kielman, and Identification Officers Doug Murray and Norman Hevey, who ran the check on 20,000 sets of fingerprints. Officer Duke Whitlock, who spent many off-duty hours looking for Callender, Det. Robbie Bronson who was instrumental in developing the information on Callender, and Fuluwider, who returned from vacation in Georgia to help out and made the arrest.

Miller said Lt. Lynn Lowrey "loomed large" and Det. Eberle coordinated the investigation.

"The citizens of Belle Glade were very cooperative and supportive," Miller said.

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Williams were held Saturday, Aug. 8, at the Mixon Funeral Home Chapel. Rev. Ray Sneedham, pastor of Canal Point Baptist Church officiated.

School requirements

Children entering kindergarten or the first grade of Palm Beach County public, private and parochial schools are required to provide evidence of completed immunization and a medical examination at the time of entry.

Immunizations required are diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, rubella, mumps and measles. Physical examinations must have been completed within 12 months prior to school entry.

Forms to certify completion of immunization and physical examination are available from your physician or local health department.

Ninth grade students will be required to present evidence of a medical examination in order to reenter school in August. This examination must have been within the previous 12 months.

All students in the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades must have, in their school file, records of completed immunization against 6 preventable communicable diseases — diphtheria, polio, tetanus, rubella, mumps and measles. Students not providing this documentation will be excluded from school. Students transferring from other countries or states into any grade must also provide this documentation.

These requirements are necessary to insure the safety and protection of children in the school environment. Unnecessary communicable diseases need to be prevented.

Childhood illnesses can often have serious consequences and lead to lifelong handicaps. Parents have been very cooperative in helping develop a well-immunized and, therefore, well-protected school population in Palm Beach county.

Jury awards $1.8 million

According to a report in the Palm Beach Post Saturday, Aug. 8, a West Palm Beach Jury has awarded a Haitian baby $1.8 million.

The Post reported that a Circuit Court jury ruled that a Belle Glade obstetrician was negligent when he delivered the boy at Glades General Hospital in September of 1978.

The money was to be placed in a guardianship for the boy, so that he can be institutionalized. The boy suffered brain damage during birth.

The physician named in the suit is Ahmed Berhoush.

Fritz Stein appointed to committee

U. S. Senator Paula Hawkins (R-Florida) Aug. 4 announced that she has recommended the appointment of Fritz C. Stein Jr. to the Florida Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Committee.

The three-member panel, which will be appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, supervises the farm programs administered by the ASCS in Florida. The programs are designed to regulate commodity production and land use.

Stein, 50, of Belle Glade, is a cattle rancher and sugar cane farmer. He is a graduate of the University of Florida with a degree in Agriculture.

Four digits added to zip code

BELLE GLADE — Area businesses and post office box holders began Monday receiving their official zip plus four code.

Don Spivey, postmaster for the Belle Glade Post Office said the new zip plus 4 code is voluntary, but hopes area businesses will begin using it right away because it has both direct and indirect benefits for the user.

The new zip plus 4 code is different for each box holder and business.

The zip plus 4 code will provide:

- More efficient and consistent mail service.
- Greater accuracy in handling and delivery.
- Reduced postal service costs.
- and more stable rates.

Spivey said businesses planning to order new stationary or have business forms printed are encouraged to place the new zip plus 4 code on their letterhead and forms.

TB testing program underway

BELLE GLADE — In conjunction with the testing for tuberculosis among Haitian refugees living in Western Palm Beach County, the Palm Beach County Health Department began the testing program for refugees living in south part of the county Monday.

Majorie Lund, nursing director for the county health department and a mobile X-ray unit is visiting area labor camps.

Since the disease was discovered among several Haitian children in Belle Glade, more than 300 Haitians have been X-rayed in the Glades.

To help in the screening, Miss Lund said, the department's Croole speaking field team is being sent into various parts of the Belle Glade community urging residents to be tested.

"We have been quite pleased with the result," she said.

The tests will be developed at the state TB Control office in Jacksonville and Miss Lund said it would take several days before it is known if any of those persons tested are carriers of TB.

Approximately 150 of the Haitians tested thus far have positive reactions.

Glades Business World... Bare Essentials features lingerie

By KIM ALLEN and SCOTT ELLIS

What do the words bare essentials remind you of? If you thought of the latest in sleepwear, daywear, foundations and loungewear, then you're thinking of Belle Glade's newest lingerie and nightwear fashion outlet, Bare Essentials.

"Located in the 715 Plaza at 417 N.W. 16th St., Bare Essentials opened in the spring, bringing sexy and sweet loungewear styles to the Glades, possibly for the first time.

"We feature shopping in a relaxed atmosphere, with personalized service, whether you are selecting lingerie for yourself or as a gift," Nora Wilson, owner, said.

Mrs. Wilson, with the help of her assistant, Minnie Turnbull, operates Bare Essentials from 9 a.m. Monday through Saturday. The late closing time is an added convenience for those who have to work until 5 or 5:30 p.m., Nora said.

Nora has lived in Belle Glade for 20 years, and worked with the now defunct Dave's Palm Beach Shop for 14 years. Minnie has 20 years of experience with Kohn's, which also recently closed.

"A real need for this kind of shop in the Glades was found by Mrs. Wilson, who also has a bridal registry and tuxedo rental service.

"We want to create a relaxed atmosphere here, where customers can sit down and relax. We want to pamper our customers," Nora said.

Carrying top lines with prices ranging upward from moderate, Mrs. Wilson believes that she can please the most discriminating lingerie buyer. Brands such as Vanity Fair, Miss Elaina, Maidenform, Playtex, Barbra, Val Mode and Hanes are featured.

"Sleepwear is no longer just the high-necked, long-sleeved flannel gown or pajamas. It is now more feminine-oriented as is daywear and foundations," Mrs. Wilson said.

"It's romantic and beautiful and designed for comfort and making a woman feel like sugar and spice."

Bare Essentials can fit everyone from petite to the big and beautiful.

"Nothing is a pick-me-up like a bubblebath, Cologne or slipping into one of our gowns for a relaxing evening," Nora said.

"We are not trying to create a Frederick's of Hollywood image, but we do have sexy lingerie. We find it so amusing when a man walks into our shop looking for men's clothing and finding himself surrounded by filmy flowing gowns and robes. And everything a woman buys is for a man."

Minnie, according to Nora, is a "special gift for making everyone's day a little brighter." She and Nora invite Glades lingerie lookers to browse through their new shop.

NORA WILSON (right) and Minnie Turnbull are the friendly folks at Bare Essentials, offering delicate lingerie to Glades residents.

How I see it—

State and local organizations have won victories on lower levels. Black cultural organizations have won victories and have preserved and popularized the arts and culture of Black Americans. These organizations now in need, is a reflection on all blacks in America.

As other sources of aid to civil rights group decrease, the support from blacks must increase. So it all boils down to us. If any of the major civil rights groups fail, it will be because black are not forewighted enough to see that they must be saved.

There are roughly some 26 million black people in the U.S. and the have a gross annual income of some $62 billion. Granted, the bulk of that income goes for food, clothes, and shelter, there is enough left over to support these organizations without too much difficulty.

We should look upon the support of black civil rights organization, not as a duty, but as a SCARED TRUST.

Ma Bell accepts plastic

BELLE GLADE - The familiar plastic credit card gained an even greater acceptance last week when Southern Bell began accepting MasterCard and Visa at its Phone Center Stores.

According to Bob White, local Southern Bell spokesman, any customer wishing to purchase one of the company's 17 Design Line sets or a maintenance agreement can use either one of the two cards.

A new line of telephone-related accessories will soon be available in many Phone Center Stores and may also be purchased by using a credit card.

"We recently signed an agreement to handle the credit arrangements so customers shopping with us can have this option...a confident they'll enjoy having," said White.

He indicated that several studies of customers' buying habits reveal that a majority of people prefer to make purchases with charge cards instead of cash.

"Now that Southern Bell is selling in the retail arena, we have to provide a shopping environment which accommodates our customers' wants," White said.

"They expect that from us," he added. White pointed out that a customer can also contact his or her local Residence Service Center to make Design Line or maintenance agreement purchases, billing these purchases to the proper credit card.

Farm Bureau supports medfly eradication

GAINESVILLE

United States Dept. of Agriculture and Florida dept. of agriculture officials are more concerned with acting quickly now that the Mediterranean Fruit Fly has shown up in Florida rather than looking for clues to its origin.

The appearance of the three medflies in Ybor City on Aug. 4th is being looked at as an indication according to Richard Clark of the Florida dept. of agriculture and Consumer Services Division of Plant Inspection (DPI).

"We will take all the steps necessary to eradicate the medfly problem," said Clark. Only after eradication has been achieved can DPI afford the luxury of determining where the flies came from, Clark said.

Clark added that the med-fly probably hitchhiked to Tampa in a car or infested fruit when was then discarded.

"The med-fly moves on its own very little, but when people start carrying infested fruit with them, the flies start popping up all over the place," he said.

Florida Farm Bureau (FFB) is closely monitoring the med-fly situation.

FFB president Walter Lantz said Farm Bureau will cooperate with government officials wherever possible. Kautz pointed out every Floridian can help in the med-fly battle.

"Agricultural and government officials can't do it all. People with host trees in their yards should watch for excessive fruit drop," Kautz said. If the fruit drop is unusually large, Kautz recommended the person cut open the fruit and examine it for maggots. According to DPI's Clark, if maggots are found, the homeowner should call the county agriculture extension agent immediately. The agent will then arrange for a DPI inspection.

Gardening guidelines for August

August is a rough month for gardening in Florida. It's too late to plant many summer flowers and too early for winter varieties. And furthermore, it's just too damn hot to spend all day slaving in the yard. But don't despair, there are plenty of easy jobs left to do. Here's a potpourri of easy-to-do garden chores. Roses grow quite large in South Florida and a late August pruning is recommended. Remove healthy top growth as well as twigs and branches that are dead, diseased, injured, unsightly or thin and spindly. Shorten main canes and lateral branches removing small twigs and some of the oldest canes. Leave at least half the length of each main cane that is one to three years old. The first flowers can be expected eight to nine weeks after pruning.

If you're growing mums or poinsettias for winter color, this is the last month you should pinch these plants to increase blooms. Pinching back the stems tips will promote heavier flowering because of increased branching. But, if you wait too late, pinching will remove flower buds and thus reduce flowers this fall.

It's also about time to begin disbudding camellias to increase flower size. As soon as you can distinguish the rounded flower buds from the pointed vegetative bud, twist off all bottoms of the flower buds at each tip. Be careful not to injure the remaining bud which should develop into a larger flower. Sweetquas and japonicas which are prized for multi blooms, need not be pinched.

Common ornamentals like oleander, hydrangeas and azaleas can be propagated by cuttings this time of year.

How can conservation serve the best interests of both FPL and its customers?

Bob Tallon, FPL Executive Vice President, with the Company's Conservation Van, a mobile exhibit of energy saving tips.

Is conservation really necessary? Yes. We know that many of our customers have been working hard to conserve electricity and to continue with this effort for three main reasons:

First, it will help you gain control over your use of electricity. And a kilowatt hour not used is one you don't pay for.

Second, it reduces our dependence on oil, which is both expensive and vulnerable to interruption. If customers use less electricity, we need less oil to generate part of that electricity.

Third, it can help limit the need to build costly new generating plants.

I'm already conserving electricity, but my bill is still going up. Why? Mainly because of things neither you nor we can control. Like the cost of OPEC fuel oil, inflation, weather extremes, and unexpected mechanical problems at some of our plants. Where we can exercise control, we do it. For example, before we use oil, we use all our other less-costly generating sources—nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines.

If we use less electricity won't FPL just raise our rates? No. We're adding more than 100,000 new customers a year, and the revenues from these customers help offset any revenue reductions which may be due to conservation by existing customers. Inflation and fuel prices will remain the major factors in higher costs for customers.

What is FPL doing to conserve fuel? Many things, ranging from supporting research into future energy sources such as solar, to making our plants even more efficient. Here are just three examples:

Newly-designed burners in many units use less fuel and will save over 300,000 barrels of oil this year. The purchase of coal-generated power will save nearly 2,000,000 barrels of oil this year. Our nuclear plants produce electricity at a much lower cost than do conventional plants, and their fuel costs are much lower. Since nuclear operations began in 1972, our three nuclear units have saved the equivalent of over one hundred and thirty million barrels of fuel oil. That's about 1.6 billion dollars in fuel costs our customers did not have to pay.

Will FPL help me conserve? Absolutely. FPL offers home and business energy audits, the Watt-Wise Living™ program for new home construction, and several other programs to help you conserve. And many new programs are planned for the coming years as part of FPL's "Energy Management Plan for the '80s". In addition, we're continually giving our customers conservation suggestions in folders and other forms of communications.

For more information about a home energy audit or other ways to conserve, contact your local FPL office. We're always ready to help.

Farm Bureau supports medfly eradication

GAINESVILLE — United States Dept. of Agriculture and Florida dept. of agriculture officials are more concerned with acting quickly now that the Mediterranean Fruit Fly has shown up in Florida rather than looking for clues to its origin. The appearance of the three med-flies in Ybor City on Aug. 4th is being looked at as an infestation according to Richard Clark of the Florida Dept. of Agriculture and Consumer Services Division of Plant Inspection (DPI).

"We will take all the steps necessary to eradicate the med-fly problem," said Clark.

Only after eradication has been achieved can DPI afford the luxury of determining where the flies came from, Clark said.

Clark added that the med-fly probably hitchhiked to Tampa in a car or infested fruit when it was then discarded. "The med-fly moves on its own very little, but when people start carrying infested fruit with them, the flies start popping up all over the place," he said.

Florida Farm Bureau (FFB) is closely monitoring the med-fly situation.

FFB president Walter Lauts said Farm Bureau will cooperate with government officials wherever possible.

Kauts pointed out every Floridian can help in the med-fly battle.

"Agricultural and government officials can't do it all. People with host trees in their yards should watch for excessive fruit drop," Kauts said. If the fruit drop is unusually large, Kauts recommended the person cut open the fruit and examine it for maggots.

According to DPI's Clark, if maggots are found, the homeowner should call the county agriculture extension agent immediately. The agent will then arrange for a DPI inspection.

How can conservation serve the best interests of both FPL and its customers?

Bob Tallon, FPL Executive Vice President, with the Company's Conservation Van, a mobile exhibit of energy saving tips.

Is conservation really necessary? Yes. We know that many of our customers have been working hard to conserve electricity and it's important to continue with this effort for three main reasons.

First, it will help you gain control over your use of electricity. And a kilowatt hour not used is one you don't pay for.

Second, it reduces our dependence on oil, which is both expensive and vulnerable to interruption. If customers use less electricity, we need less oil to generate part of that electricity.

Third, it can help limit the need to build costly new generating plants. I'm already conserving electricity, but my bill is still going up. Why? Mainly because of things neither you nor we can control. Like the cost of OPEC fuel oil, inflation, weather extremes, and unexpected mechanical problems at some of our plants. Where we can exercise control, we do it. For example, before we use oil, we use all our other less-costly generating sources: nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines.

If we use less electricity, won't FPL just raise our rates? No. We're adding more than 100,000 new customers a year, and the revenues from these customers help offset any revenue reductions which may be due to conservation by existing customers. Inflation and fuel prices will remain the major factors in higher costs for customers.

What is FPL doing to conserve fuel? Many things, ranging from supporting research into future energy sources such as solar, to making our plants even more efficient. Here are just three examples:

Newly-designed burners in many units use less fuel and will save over 300,000 barrels of oil this year. The purchase of coal-generated power will save nearly 2,000,000 barrels of oil this year. Our nuclear plants produce electricity at a much lower cost than do conventional plants, and their fuel costs are much lower. Since nuclear operations began in 1972, our three nuclear units have saved the equivalent of over one hundred and thirty million barrels of fuel oil. That's about 1.6 billion dollars in fuel costs our customers did not have to pay.

Will FPL help me conserve? Absolutely. FPL offers home and business energy audits, the Watt-Wise Living™ program for new home construction, and several other programs to help you conserve. And many new programs are planned for the coming years as part of FPL's "Energy Management Plan for the '80's". In addition, we're continually giving our customers conservation suggestions in folders and other forms of communications.

For more information about a home energy audit or other ways to conserve, contact your local FPL office. We're always ready to help.

J E M A M J J A S O N D
(Jan-Mar: 7.4 million barrels, $255 million. June-Aug: 14.8 million barrels, $450 million. Annually, oil accounts for 58% of FPL's generation.)

Pennies from Heaven

BELLE GLADE—During August your used all-aluminum beverage cans and other recyclable aluminum could mean "Pennies from Heaven" for the Muscular Dystrophy Association's annual campaign to help "Jerry's Kids."

Throughout the year, recyclers have bought aluminum to their nearest Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company buying location and have received cash for their metal, or donated the proceeds to MDA.

Now, as an added bonus, during the month of August through Labor Day, Reynolds will contribute an extra penny for every pound of aluminum recycled through its nationwide network. This is in addition to the cash Reynolds pays the public for used aluminum.

Recycling with Reynolds will not only advance the work of MDA, but will also conserve a valuable natural resource, reduce litter and solid waste and save energy. Recycling saves 95 percent of the energy required to make aluminum from ore.

Reynolds buys all-aluminum beverage cans and other household aluminum foil products such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays and dip, pudding and meat containers. Other recyclable products include aluminum siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, all of which should be cut into lengths not exceeding three feet and bundled separately from cans.

Aluminum casting, including pots and pans, power lawnmower housing and barbecue grills are also purchased and recycled by Reynolds.

Glades residents who would like to help "Jerry's Kids" can recycle their aluminum products at City Park, 500 West Canal St., in Belle Glade, every Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Pelican Park, at East 6th St., in Pahokee.

Delicious mangoes:

Erickson Family has grown them at Canal Point for over 20 years

By JIM JONES

When Floyd Erickson's father emigrated from icy Sweden shortly after the turn of the century, he little suspected that his son and grandson would one day become the Glades' most successful growers of the tropical mango.

Today, the Ericksons have 5,000 mango trees on 50 acres of land in Canal Point and export the delicious, juicy fruit to supermarkets and retailers all over the country.

Erickson's 30 year old son, Dale, has since taken over the business, but Floyd Erickson stays involved through the long work days helping out with what can be a back-breaking occupation.

Erickson's family moved to Minneapolis from Sweden before heading South to Fort Myers, where Floyd was born in 1910. The Ericksons moved to Canal Point in 1911 and Floyd has lived on the same land ever since.

Erickson's father was a carpenter, but turned to commercial fishing and finally farming.

Although the Ericksons lived on Lake Okechobee's edge, there were few problems with flooding.

At that time it was dry except in the real rainy season," Erickson says. "The land was higher and the ridge (where his house is built) was higher." Oxidation of the muck soil is responsible for the ground levels.

Erickson's house still faces Lake Okechobee, but U. S. 41 and Herbert Hoover Dike to the west obstruct his view of the lake.

"Until 1926 we never knew what a hurricane was. We had two of them that year," he said.

Despite the hurricane, the Ericksons experienced few problems in contrast with the horror in Moore Haven.

"I never have left," said Erickson of his experience with hurricanes.

Dale Erickson says that if the lake were allowed to rise to 17 feet as it was several years ago, the family might have second thoughts about trying to ride-out a hurricane on the levee's edge.

Erickson graduated from Canal Point High School in 1928. He recalls that students from as far away as Clewiston came to attend Canal Point High School before it was lost Pahokee.

He went on to the University of Florida, earned a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education in 1933, and returned to Canal Point, where he hoped to teach high school.

The country was locked in the depression, however, and there were no agricultural teaching jobs in the area. Erickson had an offer to teach at Plant City.

"I turned it down and began farming. I've been thankful for it," he said.

He grew peppers, beans, and egg plants and was a member of the Lake Okechobee Farmers Cooperative, which at its height had over 30 members.

In 1940, Erickson married Easter Kendrick, a native of Kentucky. They had two sons, Bob, now a resident of Fort Lauderdale and Dale.

As the 1950s drew to a close, the cooperative waned also, declining to three or four members.

In 1960, Erickson threw his lot with mangoes, and started with less than 50 trees.

He planted his grove in rows of mangoes 50 feet apart. In between the young trees he planted sweet corn and other crops until the trees grew large enough to blot out the sunshine underneath.

The first mangoes were cleaned and boxed on a concrete picnic table next to Erickson's house. In 1974, they completed a 40 by 60 foot packing house, later expanding it to 85 by 85 feet.

Mangoes are cleaned, boxed and shipped all over the country. Truckers make regular stops at Erickson Groves to take the delicate fruit northward.

A mountain of mangoes in the packing house.

Mango growers have borrowed a page from banana producers and ripen their fruit with a natural gas produced by the fruit.

During the height of the season, two teams of four mango pickers stay busy loading 20 bushel-pallet boxes with the fruit.

The loaded boxes are pulled on wagons by tractor to the packing house, where they are lifted onto a washing bin. Pickers move the mangoes through a soap bath and rinse and onto a conveyor belt, for sizing and packing into boxes.

"The whole family helps out during the operation. Dale drives the forklift, Floyd watches over the washing bin, culling the mangoes, and Mrs. Erickson helps out two packers who try to keep up with the mangoes tumbling into bins from the washer outside." "That's all for now. The bin is full," Mrs. Erickson tells her husband.

Although the mango isn't for everyone, many Americans have made this lush fruit their favorite and the Ericksons have no trouble selling their produce.

MANGO MAESTRO Floyd Erickson inspects his fruit as it goes into the packing house.

Mangoes are extensively grown in southern Asia, Africa, and South America. Emigrants from these regions often have a better idea of what to look for in mangoes than Americans.

India, for instance, has over 2 million acres in mango cultivation.

It is not surprising then that many Indians now living in this country have found out about Erickson Groves and become regular mail order customers.

"They pickle the green mango," says Dale. "Each family has its secret recipe."

Erickson has tried to get his customers to share their recipes, but they guard them jealously. Nevertheless, he has been able to obtain samples of the finished product, which he displays in his office.

Some of the pickled mango is sweet, some sweet and sour and some very hot. Dale claims that he knows of one person who blistered his lip by touching some of the hot mango with his mouth.

Most of the mangoes shipped from Erickson Groves are sold to wholesalers on consignment—to a central dealer who supplies retailers.

The mango belongs to the same family as poison ivy, cashew and jack fruit. It is not surprising that some persons are allergic to its sap or may break out in a rash from just being too close to a flowering mango tree.

Fortunately, most people aren't bothered by mangoes and can fully enjoy them, starting in April when the first fruit is picked.

Most of the ripe fruit is picked in the second or third week of June and the season comes to an end in August.

"When we finish in August, we have avocados to harvest in September. We also have to top and side the mango trees," Dale said.

Pruning is an important part of the mango grove operation. Pruning inside branches helps make harvesting easier and ensures that the young fruit gets the sunlight and air that it needs. Pruning also helps keep the fruit dry.

Trees left to grow unrestricted would soon produce a canopy and the branches underneath would die from lack of sun.

The Erickson family begins spraying a fungicide on their trees in January when the first blooms appear. The trees are sprayed weekly, a process which requires a full 10 hours to treat all trees.

They also stay busy during the off-season maintaining and repairing their equipment, a chore they say they never really have enough time for.

They buy their stock from a nursery and have found that trees will bear in one year. The trees are not allowed to bear for at least three years, however, to avoid stunting. A mango tree hits its stride after about seven or eight years, and a mango tree may live for hundreds of years.

Floyd Erickson's oldest tree almost drowned during a periodic flood in 1923. But his father transplanted it onto higher ground. Today, the tree has a trunk larger than two men can reach around.

TOMMY AKINS IS THE No. 1 commercial mango grown by Erickson Groves. Floyd, Easter, and Dale Erickson are shown with their first Tommy Akins mango tree.

Each year, the Ericksons discover a new problem with mango growing. It may be insects or disease or problem of their own making.

Several years ago, they lost over 1,000 avocado trees when Lake Okechobee was at 17 feet.

They say that the high lake level raised the ground water table, killing their trees. They have about 200 healthy avocado trees remaining.

Being mango growers, the Ericksons each have their favorite varieties of fruit. There is plenty to pick from 200 named varieties in Florida and 2,000 unnamed varieties. Some mangoes still have only a number.

Floyd Erickson prefers an Edwards mango. Most of the rest of his clan like a Glenn.

Most of the mangoes sold by Erickson Groves are Tommy Akins, what they call their Number One commercial mango.

The Tommy Akins is uniform in size, bright red or yellow in color and a good shipper, says Dale Erickson. Their number two commercial mangoes the Keitt, which is greener, has little fiber, and is a "good eating" mango.

By far their most requested mango is the Hayden, familiar to many native Floridians.

The Hayden was produced by a retired ship's captain. He crossed the turpentine mango with a malgova.

"The turpentine is small, full of strings. A lot of people were raised on them and like them," Floyd Erickson says.

The Hayden has some of the turpentine's taste, but less fiber.

One of the peculiarities of the American shopper is that he buys with his eyes. A bright red apple is more likely to be bought than a ripe, green one.

The same principal applies to mangoes. "We have a lot of mangoes which eat very well, have little to no fiber—like a banana—but they lack size or brilliant color," says Dale.

Foreigners are more likely to cope with a more deplorable sense of smell.

Though a mango grower's day may begin before 7 a.m., supper may not be served till after 9:30 p.m., and a trucker may roll in at 1 a.m. to pick up a shipment of fruit.

There is no indication that any of the Ericksons would trade their work for anything else.

The growing quite like a mango and there are lots of mango lovers who are glad that there are folks like the Ericksons in Canal Point to grow this unusual and delicious fruit.

MANGOS get a soap bath and rinse before going to market.

KEEPING THE FAITH

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me? I shall lift up the cup of salvation, and call upon the Name of the Lord." Psalm 116:12 & 13

How very greatly the Lord has blessed each one of us. I have never tried to count all of His blessings that have come my way. There have been more of them than I could count. They are all around each of us.

To begin with there are the simple things we just take for granted, things like air to breathe, ground to live on, water to drink, the sun that gives light and life, and there are friends to love us.

We could fill up this whole page of the newspaper and still not be finished with His blessings. When I start feeling sorry for myself, I start naming those blessings and I soon realize that I've been more richly blessed than I deserve to be. All of us have!

But what do we do with God's blessings? Many of them we just take for granted. How long has it been since we thanked God for things such as I named in the beginning of this column? Sometimes we misuse them. We do this as a people: nations, cities and communities, and we do it as individuals.

How do we do this? Let us begin with our bodies. Everytime we abuse our bodies and our health, we are misusing one of God's gifts to us. Everytime we waste or misuse the world's resources we misuse God's gift to us. Well, I could go on and on but I'm sure you get the point.

Sometimes we just refuse to accept God's gift. Suppose the President of the United States bought a gift for you like the great car, then you were informed of the purchased gift, only to learn it was something you had to have, if you were going to go on living.

Now is the time to open an Interest-Checking Account with Bank of Pahokee

MEMBER FDIC Bank of Pahokee

But then you were told more about it, such as the color, the size, and how it was to be delivered. First of all, it was not your favorite color and then you learn the size is not very convenient and the date of delivery was really inconvenient.

Now mind you, you need this gift to go on living, but it just does not suit you. You then learn either you take it or there is not another one available. What should you do? Take a bad color, inconvenient size, become inconvenienced by the delivery, or refuse the gift and die?

That seems like a foolish question does it not? But when compared to the gift of salvation and our treatment of this gift that comes from God it is not so foolish after all.

God has given us a gift of eternal salvation. He paid the price and it was so high that only He could pay it. For the price was and is the sacrifice of His Son our Saviour, Jesus Christ, on the horrible cross.

He suffered to death there for sin-to pay the price for our sin before God. Well, we either accept the gift or else we face eternal damnation.

But as we look it seems inconvenient. God may expect me to make some changes, "Lord, we say, is there not some other way. Look, can't you make this a little more convenient?"

When we think about it, it seems we must be awfully foolish to reject this gift that we need and has already been paid for, for the petty excuses we give.

"What shall I render unto the Lord, For all His benefits toward me? I shall lift up the cup of salvation. And call upon the Name of the Lord." Psalms 116:12 & 13.

Employment survey to start Aug. 17

BELLE GLADE - Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of Aug. 17 through 21, according to Forrest P. Cawley, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Atlanta.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

Interviewers who will visit Glades households will be Mrs. Selma Leavitt, Mrs. Lela Robinson, Mrs. Nancy Davis and Mrs. Dianne Merklein.

Dulanys honored at anniversary reception

BELLE GLADE - Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Dulaney were honored with a community-wide reception on the eve of the 60th anniversary of their marriage, July 31, at the Belle Glade Municipal Civic Center.

More than 250 persons were in attendance, including about 70 relatives of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney (Glory John) Smith, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Allen Dulaney, daughter and son, grandchildren and great-grandchildren hosted the reception.

The Dulanys were married in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 1921, at the home of her parents, the late Rev. and Mrs. Calvin A. Shive, with Dr. Mead Dutt, Pastor of the First Christian Church of Tulsa, officiating.

Dr. Dutt was a seminary classmate of Rev. Shive, who with his family moved to Pahokee 10 days after their daughter's marriage. As Pahokee pioneers, they assisted in the development of the area.

The Shives' other daughters, Mrs. Dan (Ruth) Carpenter, of Pahokee, Mrs. Duncan (Lillian) Padgett, also of Pahokee and Mrs. Ralph (Gerardine) Grimes, Canal Point, and their families were all present at the reception.

Louise Kirkman and family catered the buffet. The floral and palm arrangements were the work of the Rose Pedal in Belle Glade.

The Cypress Blue Grass Band of Deerfield Beach, five-piece band led by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rogness, nephew and niece of the couple presented music throughout the evening. Mrs. Rogness sang "The Hawaiian Wedding Song."

A "Blessing Service" was conducted by the Rev. Joe Ed McGahey, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Robert G. Tindale, pastor of the Hillsboro United Methodist Church of Tampa, a grandson of the Dulanys.

The "Love Chapter" of the Bible, the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, was read, followed by Milton Carpenter singing "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Gloria John Smith.

Mrs. Kathryn Tindale sang "To God Be the Glory," accompanied by Mrs. Miriam Dulaney, both granddaughters.

The Dulanys have resided in the Glades for over 51 years. They lived in Pahokee the first 26 years of their marriage. Mr. Dulaney served as Mayor from 1935 through 1942.

He was employed by the State Department of Agriculture in 1941 through 1948; was manager of Lake Okechobee Farmers' Cooperative in Canal Point for eight years; was with the Lake Shore Growers' Cooperative of Belle Glade for 18 years; and was a member of the sales force of A. Duda and Mrs. D.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dulaney

Sons until his retirement in 1959.

Mr. Dulaney has been an active Rotarian for 47 years and has served as President of the Pahokee Rotary Club. He is a member of the Belle Glade Rotary Club which honored him with a "Paul Harris Fellowship" in 1978.

Mrs. Miriam Dulaney received her Local Preacher's License from the West Palm Beach District of The United Methodist Church of the Florida Conference in 1958.

She is active in the Glades General Hospital Auxiliary, the Belle Glade

Women's Club and the Chosen Garden Club.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney are active members of the Community United Methodist Church and its affiliated organizations.

Grandchildren of the couple are Gloria Miriam, Lively, Sydney Smith, III, Kathryn Tindale, Allen Allen Walker, Philip Allen Dulaney, Jr., Deborah Dulaney and Dewitt Dulaney.

Great grandchildren are Christy Hudspeth, David Lively, Craig Smith, Elizabeth Walker, Michelle Glenn and Brian Tindale. All were present for the occasion.

DOUBTER

She symbolized that a doubting heart can't believe in God. At last she didn't think she should. Look! Lots of young people today and a good many older ones are all that we need of all religion. They don't want a pastor. They want something to believe in, a faith to live with.

That's why the Church has never met the challenge. There is a new idea in the air, a new faith, a new life, a new hope, a new way of living. You need it to live with it.

Cards of thanks

We are never prepared for life's darkest hours, at such a time the thoughtfulness and expressions of friends in so many ways make a dawn come to a Polyhedral Angel. We will always remember and forever cherish the kindness of your expressions of sympathy, your prayers, telegrams, food, flowers and comforting words shown during the illness and death of our Loved One, may God bless each of you as we pray.

ly Jean Jenkins recently attended the Eight National Convention of the Cupidettes Club, Inc., at the Omni International Hotel.

The theme for the convention was "Communication...The Road to Positive Change in the 80's". Mrs. Oliver said the theme was emphasized throughout the convention's agenda.

"Change is the one certainty that we all will experience throughout our lifetime. Open communication among ourselves will aid in the acceptance of these changes", said Mrs. Oliver.

According to Mrs. Oliver, the Cupidettes commitment to render service to others less fortunate than themselves has no doubt allowed the growth and success already achieved by the Cupidettes Club, Inc.

"This has provided this organization the basic foundation it needs to promote its ideas and goals, as we strive to do a good deed or show kindness, and understanding that we shall not pass this way again," she said.

Mrs. Oliver said plans are being made by the local chapter to attend the Ninth National Convention which will convene in Atlantic City, N.J., next summer.

Also while in the city of Miami, Mrs. Oliver, Imperial Deputy of the Oasis of Masud Court 13, Daughter of Isis and Desert Records for 13 years, attended Kazah Court 17, Daughter of Isis Oriental Ball, held at the Bayfront Park Auditorium.

Mrs. Oliver said other Daughters and Nobles throughout the domain, including Germany, attended the ball. "All Daughters" and Nobles wore Egyptian costumes she said.

SB City Hall to be protected

SOUTH BAY—Just in case the Glades is hit with a powerful hurricane this year the South Bay City Hall will be well protected.

The City Commission agreed to spend approximately $12,000 Tuesday night to have Weather Control, Inc., of Hollywood install weather control shutters over the windows at City Hall.

Mayor Donald E. Tanner said in addition to serving as protection against powerful hurricane wind and rain, the shutters will serve as a sun block in the afternoon, and the shutters are burglar proof.

Tanner said the shutters also are approved storm shutters.

The 34 units inside shutter system is expected to be installed at City Hall within the next three to four weeks.

In other business before the Commission:

—Approved the first reading of an annexation ordinance on the request of Bennie Richmond.

—Agreed to delete the suffrage board court from the N.W. First Ave. Park site in order to construct restroom facilities on N.W. Eight St.

—Agreed to having acting City Manager Lomax Harrelle looking into the structural soundness of some property located on N.W. Ninth and Tenth Avenues.
